Dear Parents,

This week in our RRSA assembly, KS2 have been discussing Holocaust Memorial Day; this is on 27th January. Looking at The Diary of Anne Frank, we have found out what prejudice means (When you treat a group of people badly and say mean and unfair things about them because of their race, religion or difference; this is called being prejudiced.)

Article 2

Everyone under the age of 18 has all the rights in the Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Articles 19 and 32–37

The government is responsible for protecting children from violence, abuse, neglect, poor treatment and exploitation.

Anne Frank's words have empowered young people and given them strength to stand up to all forms of prejudice, racism and discrimination.
She is an inspiration to us all.

KS1 pupils have been talking about being a good friend to everyone and identifying what that looks like.

What to do at home - discuss

What is done cannot be undone, but we can prevent it from happening again.

We can all play our part in preventing this prejudice happening again. We can be kind towards everyone, even if they are not our special friend; we can try to understand how other people might be feeling; we can stand up for people.

How can we use our own words to make a difference?
